From the CEO

On Friday, Prime Minister Rudd announced that a Labor government would appoint a Minister for Cities. This is very welcome news. A federal champion is urgently needed to drive reforms that better connect urban policies and programs across all levels of government. This role in an expanded Major Cities Unit will bring much needed leadership and vision to the strategic planning of our cities and regions.

From the Chapter

Do you understand the laws in regards to having students or graduates doing work experience in your practice? Many members will remember it was common practice to undertake a period of unpaid work experience to kick start their careers. This was an acceptable practice by law and perhaps a cultural norm. Now however there are very clear laws prohibiting this practice unless under Federal Fair Work Legislation.

You're invited to Take your Place

The SA Chapter has launched the short film project Take your Place as part of PLACE SA in October 2013. Anyone from school children, teens and adults can get involved by making a video up to 3-minutes about a great place that is important to you. By exploring and sharing what makes a great place, we deepen our understanding of the ecology and conditions we live in, so that we create better places in the future. Entries open from 16 - 30 September.
