

Project Architects

Job description

Elenberg Fraser is seeking Project Architects to join our team of talented individuals in our Melbourne Office. The position requires a minimum 8+ years of post-graduate relevant local high rise residential or hotel experience, superb design sensibility and a dedication to producing the best outcome for all stakeholders in the built environment ensuring the continued success of the Practice.

Desired Skills and Experience

A proven track record in multi-residential (or hotel) projects with sound practical construction knowledge will be required.

You are competent and capable of working within a team, managing clients and consultants through all phases of the design process, with the ability to supervise design direction with competence and commercial viability.

You foster and promote best practice design and professional development within the related project teams supporting interdisciplinary teamwork and mutual respect among staff through leading by example. REVIT essential, Grasshopper and Rhino preferred.

Company

Elenberg Fraser is not your average architecture firm. Our inspiration is eclectic, from modernist greats to literature, to film, to politics to popular culture, we are the curious intellect – thirsty to engage with, debate and ultimately forge our own distinct identity. We have a house process, rather than a house style: a series of poignant questions that lead to the best possible design, rather than pre-conceived solutions.

Elenberg Fraser's architecture is of the place, informed by the site, location, client and brief, rather than a house style. We have created a design studio environment that has achieved commercial success - over 15+ years we have built $1.5 billion worth of work, with a further $2 billion currently under construction. Rather than applying a house style, our buildings are conceived in their own right, responding to their specific site, location and purpose. The outcome is sensory - architecture that people can feel, not just see. Architecture that makes people think, acknowledging the origins of architecture and its plethora of influences, both ancient and modern.

This is an opportunity within a collaborative, progressive design practice with a great professional development path. We encourage an environment of learning and interaction at Elenberg Fraser, where staff contribute to an ever evolving culture. Salary commensurate with experience.

Please forward resume including folio (5mb max) to careers@elenbergfraser.com No downloads accepted.