From the CEO

Dear Members,
An important issue has come to light in recent days that I feel I should share with you. There are reports that the profession is being targeted by insurance brokers looking to establish themselves as specialists in architects' professional indemnity insurance. To entice new business, the names of various architecture practices are being widely circulated in marketing campaigns as

From the Chapter

The results are in for Stage One of the Open Ideas RAH Competition. All the entries are on display in the basement exhibition space below ODASA in their new offices at 26-28 Leigh Street.

The Institute is now running a 'handshake' process to introduce interested members to any of the six shortlisted entries going into stage two that require a local architect or landscape architect. The process will occur throughout this
